Is This the End?

December twenty-first of the year two thousand and twelve marks the end-date of the 5,125 year-long cycle of the Mesoamerican Long Count calendar. The Long Count was used to record events in history and is just one of three calendars used by Mayan culture. The other calendars consist of the Tzolkin (their spiritual calendar) and the Haab (their general purpose calendar). However, the Long Count calendar, which is often referred to as simply the "Mayan Calendar", has been the subject of much speculation regarding the significance of the theory that it ends in December of 2012. One of the more common myths is that the end of the Mayan calendar signifies the end of the "world". However, this is not a prediction that the Mayan's themselves concocted. Rather, a more recent group of New Age authors and astronomers have theorized about the Mayan culture and beliefs, and attribute to them some sort of secret knowledge from ancient times.

Even though the theme of this year's edition revolves around this supposed upcoming event, the references we are drawing from it are from a lighter, happier perspective. As often happens, the ending of one chapter of life often leads to new, exciting adventures in the next. As our seniors graduate, ending their high school careers, they enter a new world of independance, opportunity, and higher levels of responsibility. New students entering Masconomet for the first time experience a similar sense of wonder as they acclimate to their new surroundings.

As is the usual, we've included a few theme pages in this years edition, not with the intention of subscribing to the end-of-world predictions, but rather to take the opportunity to explore some of the lighter side of this upcoming event (or lack thereof). The Bucket List pages were done in a controlled environment, and no attempts should be made to reproduce them. However, I have to admit that it is humorous to listen to the ideas that students come up with when asked the question: what would you do if you knew the world was about to end, and there would be no consequences? I'll let you see what they came up with for yourself, but in the meantime, ask yourself the same question. So... what's on your Bucket List?

Dedication:

Mr. Czarnecki has been a member of the Masconomet faculty for the past 34 years. During his tenure, "Czar" has worn many hats., experiencing a number of different positions both as a teacher and an administrator. He began his career at Masconomet as a member of the Occupational Education Department, and continued teaching through its transition into the Business and Computer Science Department. He was promoted to department head when the position became available. For many years he singlehandedly updated and maintained the Masconomet website. For the past three years, Mr. Czarnecki has worked as the assistant principal, implementing many positive changes as the Upper House leader, where he guides (or in some cases, nudges) the juniors and seniors onto the road to graduation.

In addition to his many contributions as a member of the faculty, Mr. Czarnecki coached many of Masconomet's sports teams to victory. He is a former Girls Soccer and Boys Basketball coach. Observing athletic improvement through practice was what Mr. Czarnecki really loved about coaching. "I love seeing success stories at Masco, and hopefully we have a lot."

"Some of the best things about Masco are the students that are enrolled here." said Mr. Czarnecki, "When I was little, I always had it in the back of my mind that I wanted to be a teacher, and that high school would be about the right age." For as long as he has been a part of Masconomet, he has admired the students, as well as the environment of the school. "The best part is being with the kids on a daily basis and dealing with students. When they are honest and respectful, it really brings me joy to see the growth that they've experienced here."

Mr. Czarnecki has worked alongside the Masco faculty for a long time, and has always considered them to be tremendously professional, creating lots of friendships. One of his closest friends is Mr. Delani, a fellow assistant principal with whom he has worked intimately over the years. This relationship often consists of discussions about school policies and procedures, and improvements that could be made to them. "My hope is that Masconomet doesn't change in the future. It's a great school and I'm lucky to have been a part of it."

Some of his hobbies include lobstering, construction work, and wood working. Mr. Czarnecki spends a lot of time with his family as well. He lives in Danvers with his wife Kathy, with whom he has enjoyed many years of marriage. She supports him in all that he does and loves to see the joy he gets out of his job as assistant principal.

When asked about what he has learned while here at Masco, he smiles and replies, "everything". He has shown us what it means to be committed to something that you love. We would like to thank him for all the time and effort that he puts into his job, and we are honored to have the opportunity to dedicate this book to Mr. Joseph Czarnecki and to let him know how much he really means to the Class of 2012. Thank you Czar!

-The Class of 2012

Retirees

Mrs. Patrícia Bryan

Mrs. Bryan has taught Middle School math at Masconomet for the last ten years. Prior to teaching, she worked in Boston in the financial services industry for many years. According to Mrs. Bryan, "I am retiring from teaching, but I am not planning to retire completely! After doing some projects around the house and taking a little vacation to the West Coast, I hope to be working in a non-profit or business environment. I am also looking forward to spending more time with my family!". Of the many experiences Mrs. Bryan has had while teaching math, she recalls that "many of my former students fondly remember our great Pi Day celebration in 7th grade!". Mrs. Bryan feels fortunate to have been on a team with Mr. Mahoney, Mr. Morris, Mrs. Tomasino, Ms. Amsler, and Mrs. Johnson for the last ten years. As for her thoughts on being a teacher, she tells us that "being a math teacher is a wonderful job! Students have a lot of energy and that energy is contagious. I spend the day with enthusiastic young people and we solve problems all day long!

Mrs. Tanguay retired at the end of last year to write a new chapter in her life. Her contributions to the Special Needs Department for over 8 years were tremendous. Mrs. Tanguay has a caring and empathic nature, and a positive teaching style that has helped many students over the years. Her expertise with children and young adults has been respected and greatly appreciated by her peers, both special education as well as classroom teachers in all disciplines. She will be missed, but rumour has it that she has been sighted doing some "substitute teacher" work at the Masconomet Middle School recently!

Mrs. Holly Tanguay

Mr. Joseph Czarnecki

Mr. Czarnecki has worked in the field of education for many years, spending 34 of them here at Masconomet. Czarnecki started his carreer at Masco as an Occupation Education teacher, later moving on to teaching in the Business and Computer Education Department. He was later promoted to Department Head of Business and Computer Education. In 2008, he was promoted to Assistant Principal of the Upper House. Czarnecki can be seen throughout the halls at Masco every day, and never hesitates to greet students with a smile and a subtle nod. "I have formed many memorable friendships among the staff and I really enjoy working with the kids." He will be remembered for his caring attitude and open-minded approach to most any dilemma that could possibly arise. Mr. Czarnecki plans on enjoying lobstering and building and spending time with his family during his retirement. Thank you, Mr. Czarnecki, for your many years of service to Masconomet, but especially for your help with making the Class of 2012 the best class ever!

Yearbook Advisor

Dear Class of 2012,

You don't know us yet, but we're writing to you from the year 2062. Since 2012, another dozen or so end of the world predictions have come and gone. We realized long ago the ridiculousness of giving undue attention to absurd predictions derived from primitive cultures. They still seem to arise from time to time, but most of us regard them as a joke these days.

Early last summer, five of my junior yearbook staff members and I attended the annual Josten's Summer Yearbook Camp. It was held at the University of Connecticut, and included a full roster of workshops, seminars, and a few fun events to get students and advisors prepared and excited to begin working on the 2012 yearbook. At the opening assembly, representatives from Josten's repeatedly warned about the potential problems with what was becoming the go-to yearbook theme for 2012: The End of the World.

For the few of you who haven't heard, there is a looming prediction that because December 21, 2012 marks the end of the 5,125 year-long cycle of the Mesoamerican Long Count (aka Mayan) calendar, the year 2012 may in fact mark the date that the world ends. Whether our solar system, universe, and galaxy are also slated for destruction is unknown, but one thing is for sure...if you are reading this after December 21, 2012, then the prediction was probably wrong.

The biggest danger in theming the yearbook after this supposed event is a double-edged sword. Either outcome is a losing proposition: If it is true, then all of the work we put into creating the yearbook, including incorporating the end of the world theme, was done for naught...no one will be left to read the book a mere six months after it's publication. However, if the prediction is wrong, the entire episode will likely be purged from our pre-frontal lobes before the yearbook's editors finish their first semester of college. As an experienced adult, I explained to my yearbook staff that I had seen this trick before...whether it be Nostradamus, Halley's Comet, the Hale Bopp Comet, Y2K, or one of the dozens of other failed end-of-world predictions. As far stretched as they all seem now, there was always a "what if" trap that I fell into until the actual date of the apocolypse had passed, at which point my brain properly disposed of any of the dates and facts associated with the prediction.

Finally, we realized that the best way to both include and dismiss the absurdity of the prediction was to wager everything that it wouldn't happen. The theme of our yearbook became (it's not) The End of the World, or it's not The End for short. This way, if the apocolypse doesn't pan out, we look extra smart. However, if we lose our wager, and the world actually does end, we at least appear to be brave enough to have gone up against the beast.

By now, you've probably figured out that we're not really writing to you from the year 2062, but it was fun thinking about what we would tell you from the future. In any case, you'll learn about your own future out soon enough, because it seems to arrive much faster once high school ends. So if you happen to attend your 50th class reunion, which will most likely be held in 2062, bring this book, and compare the faces below with their real-life counterparts, and let us know how accurate we were. Until then, make the most of the remainder of your youth.

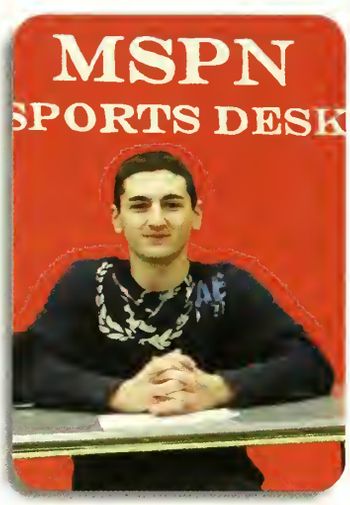
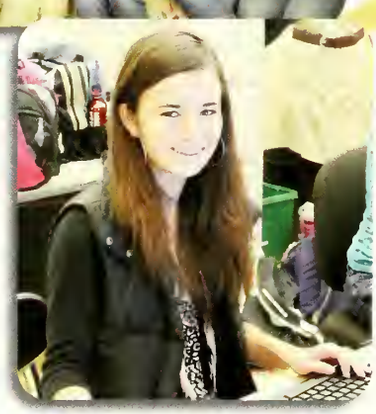
The Morning Update





It's 7:20 AM and students are gathering in the hallways talking to teachers and finishing up their homework. However, for the Morning Update crew, the work day has already begun. This dedicated group of sophmores, juniors and seniors can be found in the television studio every morning getting ready for the day's show. They prepare and produce a newscast that informs and entertains Masco students while also providing them with information about school events, sports scores, as well as worldwide current events. To complete such a task in the short 25 minute time slot requires the students to become experts at using a variety of technology. Operating cameras, sound boards, and teleprompters must become second nature in order to produce a smooth, successfull show. Although the finished broadcast appears to be an effortless endeavor to the students and teachers at Masco, behind the scenes, the Morning Update crew is busily shuffling around the newsroom making sure each show broadcasts seamlessly.

Spirit Week

The week before Thanksgiving break, students from each grade battle it out in the ultimate competition for Masco pride. From freshman to seniors, they decorate their halls from ceiling to floor according to their theme. On the last day of spirit week, students head down to the field house to watch their classmates battle it out in various competitions such as roller-chair basketball, tug of wars, relay races, and the girl's powder-puff football game. Although the junior girls were able to squeak by the senior girls in this annual event, there is some dispute amongst students as to the validity of the outcome, considering that some of the junior players weren't wearing their flags. Despite this controversy, the seniors were able to walk away victorious in every event of this year's competition.

To the right, senior Andrew Kelley dresses up as an oompa loompa for their Willy Wonka Hall Decorating.

Band

Instructed by Mr. O'Keefe and Mr. Grey, Masconomet's Concert Band, Jazz Band, Percussion Ensemble, and various other musical groups are comprised of students with a variety of tastes and talents. These gifted musicians practice both in and out of school to perfect their performances. On any given day, one can spot the dedicated band members marching through the parking lot, energizing the crowd at a home football game, or showcasing their work for family and friends at their monthly concerts. Seniors Christian Conti, Melissa Healy, and sophomore Emily Dow are a few of the many gifted members who have recieved All-State Acceptances based on their outstanding performances at Districts. Band is one of the only music classes that integrates all levels of performers. This dynamic requires that veteran band members act as role models and mentor the younger musicians, making the band its own tight-knit family within Masconomet.

Chorus

The Chorus has always been a vital part of the music department at Masconomet. It requires a high level of commitment from the singers who must work in and out of school to improve their voices. The talented singers need to audition for a spot in one of the selective groups, such as Chorale, Ladies Chorale, Chamber Choir, Jazz Choir, and Singers Ensemble. Dedicated performers have formed their own student groups like the Treblemakers and the Chieftones. Other singers, like senior Natasha Doherty and sophomore Kelsey McAlerney, have been recognized for their gifts outside of school and have received All-State Acceptances for their successes at Districts. Chorus teacher, Mr. O'Cock, said, "It's the most fun you could possibly have while still being legal. I mean I have a lot of fun doing what I do and working with the singers." Mr O'Cock takes pride in the fact that the classes have a lighthearted attitude that allows all the singers to reach their potential.

Drama

Bye Bye Birdie

This winter, the Masconomet Drama Department presented the Broadway musical, Bye Bye Birdie. The show featured students from every grade, highlighting some of the school's best musical talent. Seniors Sidney Fisher, Anastas Varinos, Jessica Fox, and junior Isaac Bean starred in the production.. On the evenings of January 12th, 13th and 14th, audiences were brought back to the 1950s during a series of fun nights of music and dancing.

Film Festival

This year, the Masconomet Drama Department hosted a film festival presenting a series of original short films produced entirely by students. Valerie Dorn, Ford Fischer, Noah Greenstein, Dan Proctor, and Paige Shippie directed and produced films shown at the festival. The films ranged in genre from horror, to drama, to comedy. There was an excellent turn-out on both Friday and Saturday nights of the film festival.

Peer Leading is a unique program involving a carefully selected group of Juniors and Seniors who serve as friends and role models for the Freshman Class. This year, the Peer Leaders and Freshmen participated in the Freshman Walk, raising money for Children's Hospital in Boston. During the month of December, the students collected new and gently used toys and donated them to Toys for Tots. Thanks to the Peer Leaders, the Freshman class has successfully assimilated into Masconomet Regional High School.

Exchange

The 2011-12 French Exchange began at the end of October, when the French correspondents arrived just in time for Halloween. For many of the French students, this was their first experience of the candy-eating holiday as they attended activities such as the Senior Halloween Dance, multiple Halloween parties, and even trick-or-treating. The fun did not end after the thirty-first however, as the French students visited historical sites such as the Plymouth Plantation and Salem Village. During the weekends, members of the exchange spent time with their host families, taking trips into Boston, skiing during the strange October snowstorm, and experiencing the typical American lifestyle. After five months apart, the American students will reunite with their French correspondents in Rennes after a week of site- seeing in Paris. The students look forward to a bike tour through the French capitol and taking pictures in front of famous monuments such as the Arc de Triomphe and the Eiffel Tower.

German

The quick venture to Boston's Public Gardens was fun.

The very last German Exchange started at the beginning of October this year for nine juniors and seniors. Launching at the beginning of the Topsfield Fair, the German students were not only shown a taste of Tritown life, but also an American attempt at recreating their fries. While in America, the exchange students went on multiple tours of Boston, which included Quincy Market, Faneuil Hall, and even a trip to the Museum of Science, where they saw an Omni Theater film. For their last weekend in America, the students took a trip to New York City for two days. The students were in awe at the enormity of the city, especially when they visited Ground Zero. The Big Apple definitely rounded off their experience of both American history and culture. In April, Masco students will travel to Berlin and later to Trier, the oldest city in Germany. There, they will see renowned architecture such as the Karl Marx House, the Trier Cathedral, and the Black Gate, all relics of cities past.

Spanish

This year's Spanish Exchange was filled with amazing experiences, new friends, and memories to last a lifetime for the eighteen juniors and seniors who participated. The students traveled to Spain in mid-February and visited cities such as Madrid, Granada, Málaga, Sevilla and Có rdoba. Málaga was where the students' host familes lived and attended school; only a short walk from the Mediterranean Sea. While in Spain, discotecas, museums and plazas were frequent hotspots for the students and their exchange partners, visiting places such as La Plaza de España and a Pablo Picasso museum. At the end of their journey, the American and Spanish students had become much more than foreigners; they had become close friends. Junior Sarah Albanesi also said that, "by the end of the two weeks, the other Masco kids were all my family; we all wanted to be together all the time and missed each other when we weren't. We all thought it was amazing how we got so close so fast with each other, none of us had ever experienced anything like that before," proving that not only did the students make new international friends, but new local ones as well.

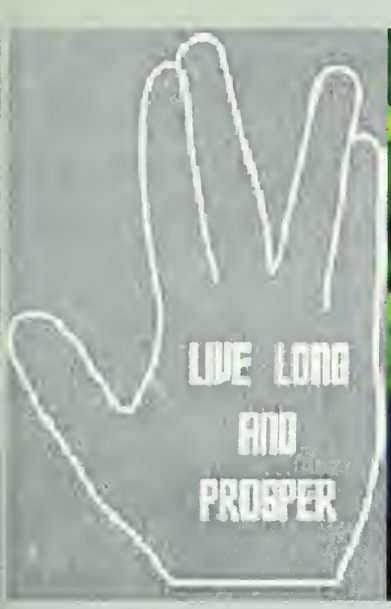
Sabrina- You are and forever will be my virtue friend- someone I can never live without. I love you more than you know.
Derek- Thank you for believing in me- although you drive me crazy, I wouldn't be who I am without you.
J.S. K.N. T.T. T.J. M.Y. H.A. - All of you gave the word fun a whole new meaning. You will always be the people I think of when I look back and reminisce on the best memories of my life. Meggie- When in doubt... get crunk.
Cheering- You are my second family. Stay fierce- I love you all.



Ryan Aldridge

Wow I can't believe High school has gone by this fast! I would never have gotten into college without my Mum helping me through everything, she really is my inspiration and I love you! The rest of my family has been really supportive as well, so I'd like to thank my Dad and Nick.
Friends have been everything this year as well. B. P. thanks so much for putting up with me this long, I honestly couldn't have survived High school without you. K. N. you're a lifesaver and crazy but I love you! L.C. good times during the awkward in between! I'm gonna miss you all in college. To all my other friends, I will miss you just as much. You all have inspired me and I love you. ☺

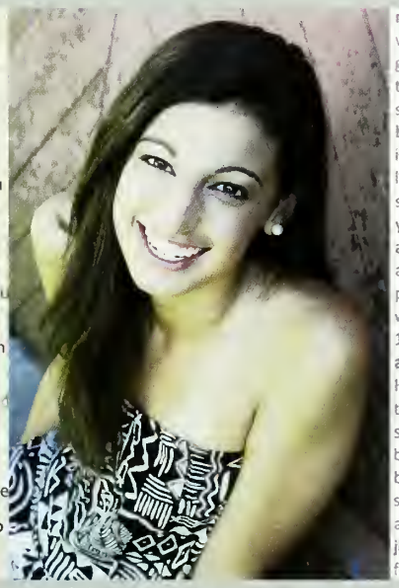
Eric Anastasio

It's finally our time. To my family, thank you for always being there for me, and for supporting me in everything I do. To all my friends, and anyone who has put a smile on my face the past four years, I just want to say thank you. A hank party would be nothing without the people who fill the room. Tim, Kurt, Jules we've made it since the start and we're still going strong, Dan, Todd, Curtis, Todd, Toph, Connor, Jake, Brian....ect You guys are my boys and have had way to many goodtimes to count. To make this drama free I'm just gonna say I love all my girls, you've all made my time at Masco better than I could have ever hoped. Peace Masco, its been real.

Henry Andrews

Mom&Dad: Thank you so much for raising me into who I am today. I am so grateful to have you to guide me. I know I can always count on you in anything I do and you will support me 100%. I love you a lot, a bunch, so much, just more than anyone can imagine. Sarah: My soul sista. Thank you for listening to all my problems and drama. You are truly my best friend. Peace, love, Jesus. Jess: My demented dino. There aren't enough words to describe how much you mean to me. Thank you for always giving the best advice anyone could ever give. Sid: I have never met a person funnier than you. You can always make me smile and I love you for that. Alex: We are so similar; we should be sisters. To countless shopping trips and late night talks, you are always there for me. Thank you. Madeline: My twin! Cheers to our overreacting fits. I love you. Bridget: Even though, our friendship began last year, I feel like we have been friends forever. Always remember: we are in kahoots! Kara: Thank you for always making me laugh and telling me fashion advice. You're the best. Kati: McGansta. 7th grade is where it all started, and I hope it never ends. Max&Mike: Triple M Gang. I love you guys and thanks for always having my back. MHSVC: My true Cheetah Sisters. You have all made this year so amazing. And remember: we will always be One Team, One Family. Masco Gym: Even though we are small, we still rock it. Love y'all! ♡ always, Riss



Marissa Angelone

mom & dad- I can't thank you guys enough for what you both have done for me. You've given me more than enough from things I need to things I want. Without both of you by my side I don't know what I would do. I love you<3 bebe- I know we fight a lot but were sisters so its okay. You're the strongest girl I know and I look up to you for that. I know I don't usually show it, but I'll always have your back. I love you lots<3 alex- we've been together for three years, but also all four years of H.S. You've been a big part of my life and without you I don't know who I would be. Thank you for everything. 12.17.08 I love you so much<3 alexandra- we've been best friends all through H.S. We've had so many memories from the the Bahamas to just hanging. You're like a sister to me and I'll always have have your back. bfssffib, love you<3 brendan- we became so close, like brother and sister. You've been there for me so much and I'll always be there for you, love you d<3 josh- hey cutie, we've had good times this year four wheeling and driving macy. love you<3

Danielle Aron

Dad, Gabi, and Mom- Thanks for being my #1 fans no matter what. Thank you for everything, I love you. Eddie ☾. I want you to be everything that's you. helped shape me into who I am today. To everyone who has affected me through the past four years, positively or negatively, thank you for having truly deep at the center of your being. -Confucius.

Cody Arrington

Well it's been fun Masco, these last four years went by fast. I still remember thinking of freshman year, and thinking this time would take forever.

Mom, Dad, Ma and Grandpa: Thanks for everything, you helped me get through these years, and help guide me to become who I am.

Tyler and Nikki: Good Luck with the next few years I will miss you both, and make sure to stay out of trouble.

Friends: Thanks for the last four years it has been awesome and I will miss you all at college.

Mom and Dad-Thank you so much for all your love and support. I would never be where I am today without your help and guidance! Love you both.

Ryan and George- You guys are hilarious! I will miss you next year!

Jacqui- Thank you for always being there for me. So many good times I will never forget! Love you Jacks!

Taylor-I can always count on you to show up unannounced, raid the cabinets and blast alternative music! "Uh oh!" You are hilarious and the best singer I know! Almost as good as Hannah and Ingrid! 4 sisters ♥. "I'm hungryy"

Gerty/Gretch-One day we will be on the runway with Tim, Gretch, Mondo, Peach and Ivy! Always make it work. p.s. Sorry for always stealing your sayings! "Okaay, Alright, Thaaank you"

Mars-Best friends since I was four!

Friends-So many laughs and good times! I will miss you all next year!

Congratulations Class of 2012!

Good Luck Next Year! ♡Katelyn

Thank you to everyone that has been part of such a successful four years. I wouldn't want to be the president of any other class than the class of 2012. This may be the end of one chapter in your life but the beginning of another more exciting one. Don't forget who you are and where you came from. Good luck everyone and keep in touch!

President: Aydan Strachan

Senior Class

S.A.B.: Kelsey Chipman

The Class of 2012 is full of accomplished individuals who have worked hard to achieve their goals. These past four years have been amazing, and I am proud to have shared them with you. Continue to follow your dreams and live the life you have imagined. Congratulations Class of 2012 and good luck wherever your dreams lead you!

Officers

Secretary: Christina Ciulla

Seniors, this is it, the time we have been waiting for these past four years. Don't forget that it is your life and now you have the chance to decide what you're going to do with it. Remember that the possibilities are endless so dream big! I wish you all the very best and good luck with everything you choose to do!

The Class of 2012 is the best class that has ever graduated from Masco. Thank you everyone for making these four years special and good luck in the future wherever your hearts takes you!
"Do not follow where the path may lead. Go, instead, where there is no path and leave a trail."

Vice President: Jeff Daniels

Class Advisor: Mr. Serino

Dear Mr. Serino,
So much of the success our class has achieved is a result of the commitment and enthusiasm you have shared with us. It is through this commitment that we have accomplished and grown into successful individuals. Your dedication as our advisor has taught us to set goals and work hard to achieve them, and we admire you for this. We speak for every student in our class when we say you have provided us with guidance, support and laughter. On behalf of the class of 2012, we would like to express our sincerest appreciation and gratitude for all that you have done for us these past four years.
The five of us could not have asked for a better advisor. You have become one of our best friends, and the number of laughs, inside jokes, and memories we have had has made our high school experience remarkable. "Vegetable medley, Janetta, It's so good to hear your voice, double it up, the clap, better by the dozen, TWO OH-ONE TWO".
With love your class officers,

Mom & Dad - Thank you for everything you've done for me. I would not be the person I am today if I didn't have your love and support. I'm so thankful for parents I can talk to. Love you both
Matt - While growing up you always made me laugh, sometimes cry. Now that I'm older I appreciate those memories and look forward to the time we get to spend together. I love you
Abbey- When we were young people said someday we'll be best friends. I never believed it. Look at us now. What we have is beyond friendship. I love you Steezy, you're always there
Auntie- You're one of the most amazing woman I know. I'm inspired by your words. You've taught me so much. I'm so grateful. Love you
Alex & Andrew- We had such good times growing up. Those memories make up some of the best times of my life
Travis - The little brother I never had. I can't believe how fast you've grown, proud of you and love you

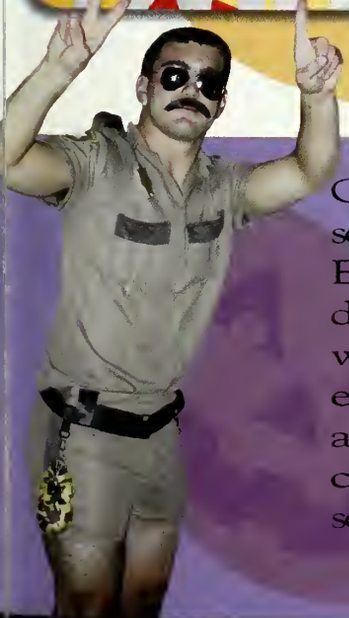
Senior Halloween Dance



On the night of the Senior Halloween Dance, students were seen dressed as various athletes, celebrities, and musicians. Everyone had their own costume to show and were all happy to dance the night away at their first class event. Justin Lawrence walked away with first prize in the costume contest for his female ensemble, complete with fishnet tights and pink hair. Prizes were also given to Batman villains, the Mario and Luigi clan, Reno 911 characters and Santa's Elves. The night was a huge success for the senior class and set a positive tone for the rest of their senior year.

As an underclassman, I remember being told by seniors, about how fast these four years seem. I never really believed them. But they really did. Probably because I love Masco so much. To my parents and brother, thank you for always supporting me and helping me whenever I needed it. Love you guys! To my teachers, thank you for being so patient. You make Masco such an easy place to love. To my friends, you are the best. Thank you for making my high school years so great. There are countless memories that I will never forget and take with me everywhere. I love you all and will miss you so much. To my classmates, good luck to every single one of you. There is nothing but good coming your way. Goodbye Masco!

Mom & Dad: Thank you both so much for all of the love and support you have provided me with my entire life. You are both great inspirations and have shown me the ways of life from day one.
Lexi: Thank you for helping to pave me a positive and successful path for my four great years of high school. You are an amazing sister, but more importantly, an amazing person.
MBS & MBB: I have been extremely fortunate to have had the opportunity to play soccer and basketball with you guys. Not only have you taught me how to be a better player, but more importantly, a better person.
Lovers: Shout out to everyone that has been with me from day one. You have all stuck by my side because you know the person I am. I would not drop any of you for anything or anyone in the world.
Haters: Shout out to you too. You have made me feel like I am different and I am okay with that. I would much rather be different than uniform.

Mom and Dad – Thanks for everything. Although my study habits may have been suspect, you guys never doubted me while pushing me to be the best student I could be. You're the greatest, and I couldn't ask for better parents.
Friends – You know who you are, and how much you've helped shape my high school career. Between games of FIFA and repping Masco pride at every sporting event known to man, it's been a wild ride. You're a crazy bunch, but that's why I love you guys.
Masco Golf – State Champs Baby! It was a great three years and I'll never forget how the twelve goofiest kids in the school teamed up to win a State Championship. Now I believe in miracles.

"Life is a work of art

When we journey in life we seek companionship, through multiple forms. Through family, friends or those you've grown a deep attachment to. I've been fortunate to be with amazing people in my life so it's my turn to thank them. These four years all of the friends I've made and every decision I took made a difference in my life. I thank my family first, there aren't enough words to express how much I love them. Lin & Erica: My closest friends who I could rely on for everything. We've had our ups and downs, but I know in the end I can count on you for anything; thank you. Andrew: The brother who I've always asked for; this experience would not have been the same without you. At the end of the day, I couldn't have asked for anyone better to share my experiences with. Nick D: To you I owe my life. I am truly grateful to have such an amazing friend who always has my back. You've seen me at my best and worst, and I can count on you for anything. I thank you deeply. The Browns: Words can't describe how appreciative and grateful I am. There was never an instance when I felt left out. I thank all of you for being so supportive and for making me feel like part of the family. There are so many people I want to thank but not enough room. I leave you with this though, everyone you meet effects you in a different way and it is all of them as a whole that show you who you choose to be, so be thankful for everyone you meet and hope that someday you can return the favor. *"You have to leave the city of your comfort and go into the wilderness of your intuition. Mom-mybestfriend. I can only hope to someday be the mother you are. Thanks for letting me cry on your shoulder all these years. We've been through it all. I love you and im so proud of you.Dad- I cant say thank you enough for the countless hours you spent coaching me in every sport. Thankyou for teaching me at a young age that tomboys are better than girlygirls and to not take crap from anyone and encouraging me to dream. I love you and no matter how old I get I'll always be your Roo. Mark-I'm so proud to call you my brother. Thanks for being my idol & believing in me especially when I didn't believe in myself. Youre gonna do great things. I love you. Ari-bestfriend,sister, girlfriend. I wouldn't have made it without you. Youre an amazing person and I cant wait to see what you accomplish. Wherever life brings us just remember I'll always be here. Love you more than you can imagine. MGS- from spiritdays to pasta parties to our disgusting lingo and personalities to our obsession with the boys soccer team..okay that was just me(especially #6) I'm so proud of you girls. CAL CHAMPS Ken&Mia couldn't ask for better cocaptains. Youre both gonna do amazing things. Don't forget about me. Underdogs. MGB- this is our year. Nbd that were stronger than most guys at masco. Who doesn't love sprints and burpies? Softballgirls-&Underclassmen teammates- that feeling of fighting for your town goes away and once it does you cant get it back so take advantage and wear your masco jersey with pride I'd give anything to be able to put on a uniform and do it all over again. make a name for yourself, dream big and reach for the stars. Make me proud. Coaches- I owe it all to you. Thank you for pushing and believing in me. You've all impacted my life. I hope I made you proud. Friends- thanks for getting me through these 4 years. You know who you are. I love you guys.

Love always, #13

Mom and Dad- even at my lowest points you have still loved me regardless. Thank you for being my biggest fans. I love you so much and cannot write enough X's and O's to express it. Max- You're the biggest dreamer I know and I admire you for it. Thank you for always being there for me. I love you so much. Lucie- You're my biggest role model even though I don't say it enough. Experience high school with no regrets and be yourself from day one. Teachers and Coaches- Thank you for the endless motivation and support. I hope one day I'll be able to return the favor. CC, KC, AS, JD, S- I love our dysfunctional family and am so grateful. I was able to work with an amazing team. <3MGS TE, KP- KSSA! Keep rolling it out LC's! <3MGT-Watch out world, you're about to get served. You are like the infant child that never grows up, but that's what I love most about you. Have confidence in who you are and never give up on whatever you choose to do. I love you so much. Danielle- You're the most driven person I know, and I have always looked up to you. Thank you for always looking out for me. Hutch- You and your family have been nothing but kind to me and have encouraged me to be my best since the first day I met them. I love every red hair on your head! Chelsea- We share a twisted sense of humor no one understands. I guess it's the price I pay for having an amazing friend like you. Sara- Since 4th grade I have come back to lean on you. You are a remarkable person! Congrats Class of 2012!

Despite the absence of snow on the ground, the senior class still managed to get into the holiday spirit during their annual Senior Holiday Dance. The class put on thier best attire and festive holiday sweaters for a night of fun, food, and dancing at the Danversport Yacht Club. The dance was a great way for the class to segway into the holiday break, their last one as high school students. With the season of giving upon them, the seniors were encouraged to bring in gifts for Toys for Tots. Students who brought in a toy were entered into a raffle for a cash price. The winners of the raffle were Alex Manneta, Justin Lawrence, Rachel Afrow and Samantha Aldeborgh.

Frolics is an event that every student at Masco looks forward to from the first days of their freshman year up until it begins in their senior year. For the class of 2012, it was finally their turn to call the shots, make the skits and step into the glory. Many of the students participated in the girl's and boy's chorus lines that night, which were choreographed by Jess Fox, Allison Foden, Jenna Hood and Rachel Afrow and were both huge successes. Other highlights of the night was a skit that put seven students under hypnotic spells, one that portayed the struggles of Masco's cheering section at big games, the infamous bomb scare from earlier in the year, as well as a remake of an SNL skit that involved a lot of ranch dressing. The senior class was praised not only by their peers but also by the faculty, who said this year's Frolics was the best yet.

The insight I've gained over the past four years is truly valuable, but the memories are worth their weight in gold. For it was not what I learned from a textbook, but rather, what I learned from my peers that was most enlightening. And to the dentist, teacher, hockey star, business man, engineer, directo and musician: thanks for always being by my side despite whatever situation, I couldn't have done it without you guys.

Mom and Dad: I can't thank you enough for all you have done to help me throughout my life. Regardless of our disagreements and our fights I have never waivered in my love for you two. Thank you so much.
David: You are an inspiration to me. I wouldn't be me without you. You teach me everyday how unexpected life can be and it's all about how we take advantage of it. Thank you for always being there when I need you. I love you.
My Friends: You have gotten me through so much with our constant laughter and fun. I will never forget all the amazing times that we have had together. Thank you.
To all my teachers who went beyond to help me: Thank you so much for never waivering in your support. It has been invaluable to me over the years. I can't thank you enough for giving me reason to strive for success.
Sam: My life will never be the same for having known you. You are one of the only people to know everything about me and love me anyway. You have been there for countless times and no matter what happens, you will always be a part of me. I love you.

My peer leaders never mentioned
The love-hate relationship I would develop with this school, or how much of a difference having supportive parents would make.
They didn't tell me that I'd grow to call one specific hallway home and the people I'd meet there every morning, day and night,
My family.
But man, did they stress how quickly these four years happened to go by,
and I didn't believe them,
but I should have.
I will really miss this,
that much I know.

Mom and Dad. I love you both for everything you have done for me. You taught me that even if my life seemed to have fallen away from the beaten path, then I must make my own way without fear of losing myself.
Nick. You have no idea how much you have done for me. I will always be thankful for how you have helped me, and in me, you will always have a partner to travel the wilderness with.
Blair. We may have had our ups and downs (like every brother and sister), but I know that whenever I needed you, you were already there for me. I can always count on you, regardless of what I ask.
Live everyday like it's your last, because one day, you will look back and say, "What if?"

The Vibe

Heather Mavin and Errin Soares were juniors when they founded their first and very own company. It all started when they began bringing feather hairclips to school, and were constantly asked about them by their fellow students. At first, they would make them and simply give them away, but when the orders started pouring in, they were able to start a business. This quickly morphed into The Vibe, and the girls recruited another partner, Riley Thompson. Together they designed a bracelet (pictured above) that stated "Feel The Vibe", and encouraged people to live instead of merely exist. They also worked with Chris Roetter from the band Like Moths To Flames to create their own tee shirts. Using Facebook to promote themselves, The Vibe was successful while it lasted, and Mavin does not regret all that they went through. "Something we know that will last for sure is our friendship and our urge to be creative."

Senior

Harry Lee

Working with technology has always been an interest of Harry's. Creating solutions to everyday technology problems soon turned into working as an entrepreneur at just 11 years old. In 2006 he founded his own company called TechNet Labs, and has been constantly expanding. Harry started providing local hardware support and offering web and app development training and soon he had acquired clients from the entire Northeast region, including the New England History Teachers Association. In the future, he hopes to continue working with technology. He also has big aspirations, including to "expand the company into a leading tech-ed solutions provider on an international scale". We all wish him the best of luck!

Spotlight

Elysian Blue

Made up of seniors Brian Cogger (trumpet), Dylan Guistra (alto and tenor saxophone), Amy Puffer (piano and alto saxophone), Tyler Hall (drums), and sophomore Guillermo Goldschmied (bass), Elysian Blue is Masco's very own jazz combo. They have scored gigs at places like the "Backstage Bistro" at the North Shore Music Theater, and have also stayed humble, playing at Masco events like the annual Outback Jazz Concert. As for their style, the band considers themselves jazz and funk, naming influences like John Coltrane and Ben Webster. One of Elysian Blue's greatest talents is their ability to improvise. Guistra says "We've gotten to the point where we need to play a gig, we can put something together and make it work."

Maggie Cristoforo

Ever since she was 12, Maggie has been strutting across pageant stages and runways. Recently, she participated in the Miss Massachusetts Teen Pageant, founded by Donald Trump. She was judged in three categories: bathing suit, evening gown, and interview. Maggie believes the last to be the hardest part. "The interview is the most cruicial and demanding; it takes verbal skills and confidence to answer randomly selected questions in a quick and matter-of-fact manner." Her favorite part of pageants in general, though, is the inner strength that it takes to get up in front of so many people and show off her skills. It is not about the material things. "What makes up a beautiful lady is not the dress she's wearing or the makeup she has on," Maggie said. "Pageants help young ladies, like myself, develop confidence and teach us how to express our inner beauty."

MOM & DAD: Thank you for always encouraging me to follow my dreams. I am the person I am today because of your guidance and help. I may not have always enjoyed the things you did at the time, but they have helped me become a strong, able adult able to think for himself. I can never thank you enough for that. I love you both so much.
SPEROS: I am so proud of you. You commit to everything you do with such conviction. Even though I may tease you sometimes, you are one of the brightest kids I know, and you will go so far in life. Just keep setting goals for yourself. Best of luck next year! Love you!
ELIAS: We may not always see eye to eye, but I admire you for your ability to be yourself. That is such a fantastic trait to have in life, and I wish I had half the self-assurance that you do. Make sure you hold onto that all through high school, and you'll go far. Love you!
SOPHIA: I cannot express in words how happy I am that we found you. You are the best little sister anyone could ever ask for. You have a long way to go, but you are well on your way to becoming a strong, smart, beautiful young woman. Love you!
PAPPOU: Thank you for instilling in me a love of the arts at a young age, and for encouraging all of my endeavors wholeheartedly. You have been such an inspiration in art, and in life. Endless love.
YIAYIA: My inspiration. I know you are with me during this momentous year. The lessons you taught me will remain embedded in my heart always. I will try to emulate the grace, passion, and determination you exemplified in your life. Thank you for everything. Love, "Little Fella"

Mom and Dad - I am so fortunate to have such loving parents. Thank you both for your constant support- your guidance and encouragement mean the world to me. You are both amazing role models. I love you guys! JT- Thanks for being a great big brother. I admire you in more ways than you know. Dingbatz- Love you girlies! High school has been so much fun with all of you. From pancake breakfasts, to raves in the Beaton's basement, to our spur of the moment outings, it's been fun! The memories will last forever! Trackies- Such unforgettable memories made with all of you crazy girls! Running in freezing temps, singing loudly, working our hardest and always encouraging one another- it's been an amazing experience! Love you all! MFH- Party Rock Ladies! Great memories with all of you Nipatas, love you! Congratulations Class of 2012! Best of luck to everyone!

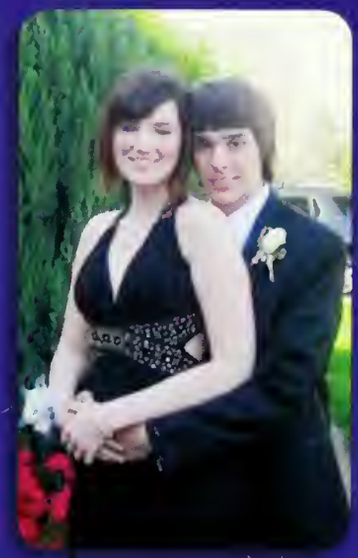
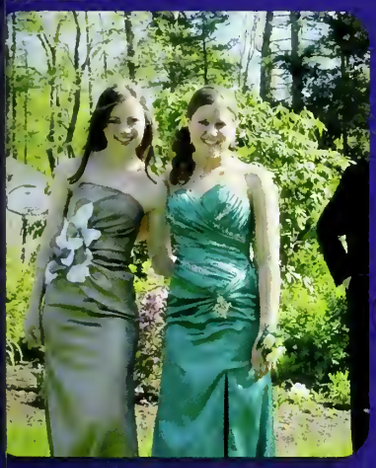
Prom

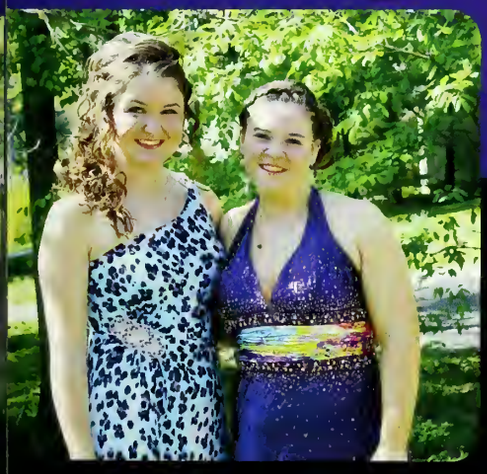
Prom Prince and Princess

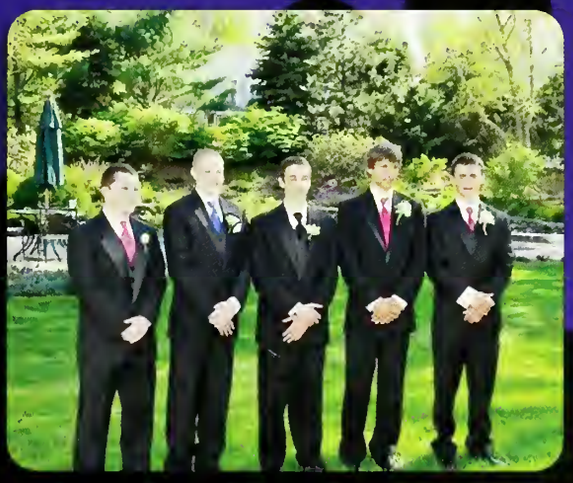
Topher Jung

Meggie Young









The Masconomet Junior/Senior Prom was held on the evening of May 13, 2011. The juniors (current seniors) had planned for this event to be the first combined prom in many years. The commitee, headed by chairmen Ben Panunzio, Michaela Nye and class advisor Mr. Serino, took prom to a whole new level. A Night on the Town, was an accurate theme as it took place at the prestigious Marriott Copley Place hotel in Boston. It really was a night on the town for the classes of 2011 and 2012, complete with beautiful weather, luxurious dresses and handsome tuxedos. Dancing lasted from 6pm until 11pm, lead by a great DJ. A highlight of the night was the announcement of the prom king, queen, prince and princess. The junior prince was Topher Jung and the princess was Meggie Young. This year we look forward to another combined junior-senior prom at the Shereton Hotel in Boston on May 11, 2012.

Confront the dark parts of yoursel and work to banish them with illumination and forgiveness. Your willingness to wrestle with your demons will cause your angels to sing, and your soul to fly. Use you pain as fuel, and as a reminder of your strength.

I want to thank my parents for their love and support, and all of my friends both in and out of sch for their endless compassion. I wa to give a special thanks to A.J, yo such a powerful part of my life a I owe so much to you. Love you a to the moon and back!

The End...

When you think of senior year, you think of the end.

The end of a grueling, four year section of your life.
The end of AP Physics or Calculus tests and 6:45 AM Peer Leading meetings.
The end of pointless parking tickets and spiral lapping.
The end of lost handbook forms and permission slips.
The end of inconveniently locked bathrooms and awkward teacher eye-contact in the halls.
The end of late nights in the art room and being forced to take a yoga class.
The end of pushing through the underclassmen on the second floor.

When you think of the class of two-oh-one-two,
You think of 346 different kids from 3 different towns,
Coming together for their final year in the endless hallways of Masco.

Running from the parking lot at 7:30 AM, and rushing back to it at 2:15 PM.
Routine, habit, ritual.
Sitting in the auditorium on the first day of freshman year, your assigned class song blaring through the speakers,
Turned into counting down the days until that life-changing letter was due to arrive in your mailbox (or your webmail).

Seeing bunnies, nerds, crayons, twins, and neon-colored spandex every other day will no longer be considered normal or common.
Java City (Seattle's Best) will not be available whenever you're falling asleep in classes.
The Morning Update won't play every morning at 7:40.
But we'll find replacements.
New band and chorus hallways, new GSA and Best Buddies clubs,
New friends.

Whether you have realized it or not, the same people have been surrounding you for 4 years of your life.
We see each other 5 days a week, 36 weeks a year.
We witness change and growth,
We become used to each others personalities and traits.

This isn't a bad thing!
It's just going to be different now.
We won't be seeing these people every day anymore,
Sitting in the same metal seats, eating in the same cafeteria.
We're breaking free from our tribe, one that has been together for so long.
The Chieftains.

We've grown up with each other, dealt with each other, laughed with each other, struggled on PSETs with each other.
And we're finally all going our seperate ways.
The attempts to stay in touch will be strong,
And vacations back in the good ol' Tritown will be epic moments of reuniting.

The amount of successful artists, scientists, journalists, athletes, teachers, engineers, and history buffs that will emerge from our class is astounding.
The variety of places we'll go to further these careers will be vast.
Paige Marsh at Johns Hopkins, Mitch Maffeo at Colby College, and Jackie Tilton at Elon; UMass, UNH, UVM, UC Boulder.

But no matter what, the 978 will always be here for us when we need it.
THop and Alex's will still be here, Jack's will still be here, and all of Middleton will most likely still be here.
All of the things that we've lived with during our time in the Tri
Will still exist and continue on while we're gone,
Though in our minds, they'll all be frozen in time along with all of our memories there.

o yes, it's true.

ur end is here, but a brand new chapter is just beginning.

What was your most embarrassing high school moment?

Mr. Meinelt: When I got stabbed in the butt with a needle tool by one of my ceramics students early in my teaching career.

Mr. Trevenen: As a teacher in the old high school, I once slide my finger into the grid covering the heater by the window and couldn't get it out again. I wasn't about to let the students know that I was stuck fast in place so I sat there for the rest of the twenty minutes of class "leaning" on the heater.

Mr. Svendsen: When I was in high school, I was called obtuse by my physics teacher.

Mr. Fay: Being super cool, I have had no embarrassing experiences.

If you could bring one characteristic of your own high school experience into your present day classroom, what would it be?

Mr. Meinelt: More of a sense of urgency.

Mr. O'Cock: More reliance on one's own talents for expression rather than on technology for the perfect look.

Ms. Saitta: It's pretty much the same considering I went here.

Mr. Svendsen: If you didn't behave and get passing grades, you were sent to another public high school.

When did you decide to become a teacher? Was it your first career choice, or did you inadvertently stumble upon it while you were trying to do something else?

Ms. Coulon: I was originally an athletic trainer in another local high school. I signed up to be a substitute teacher in that district and accidently ended up with a full time teaching job. Oops.

Ms. Mirra: I decided in first grade and it was always my first choice.

Mr. Trevenen: I have wanted to be a teacher since fifth grade with side forays into acting and a brief flirt with law.

Ms. Hildebrand: I always knew I would do something in the education field, although the test we took sophomore year that supposedly tell us what we would be when we grew up said I would be a Funeral Home Director.

Do you think that you would enjoy taking the classes that you teach?

Mr. O'Cock: I still take classes, I guess, by participating in the chorus, so yes, I do enjoy classes still.

Mr. Donahue: Yes, but not with me as the teacher.

Ms. Wood: Absolutely! I am a barrel of laughs and we have a good time!

Mr. Trevenen: Oh, yeah! That Mr. T is awesome!

Survey

When you retire, do you plan on returning as a substitute teacher?

Ms. Coulon: No thank you. You can look for me on the golf course.

Mr. Yutkins: By the time I retire, I'll probably be too old to substitute...I'll most likely be sitting in a nursing home, drooling into a cup and stealing my roommates Christmas sweaters!

Mr. Novello: I love what I do so much, I will never retire from being a guidance counselor. In fact, every year is like my first year. How can someone in their first year retire? That's crazy!

Ms. Larosa: No way, students are ruthless with subs (at least I was when I was in high school).

Ms. Wood: Lol...no way. When I retire I am going to see the wold and eat great food.

How did you do in high school when you took the subject you teach?

Mr. O'Cock: I was not in my high school chorus because the man who directed it was not to my liking.

Mr. Donahue: I decided to drop Spanish my senior year.

Ms. Larosa: My guidance counselor made me cry when I was a senior applying to college.

Ms. Hildebrand: I was kicked out of Honors English my Sophomore year for lack of effort!

From your experience, were students more self-reliant when you went to high school?

Ms. Coulon: Yes, we didn't have the luxury of sending a text message and instantly having someone else solve the problem for us. We had to use the card catalog in the library instead of "googling"...again patience.

Ms. Hildebrand: Definitely. I would have been mortified if my mom ever tried to take care of something for me.

Mr. Fay: In many ways, students are more self-reliant today, especially with getting assignments done. In terms of making decisions for themselves they are less self-reliant than 30 years ago. We had a larger degree of freedom to succeed or fail on our own.

Do you feel that the subject you each is more important than other ubjects?

Mr. Yutkins: That's like asking someone if one f their senses is more important than the ther...they all work in unison to provide us ith the experience of life.

Mr. Donahue: I teach students, not subjects.

Ms. Hildebrand: Depends on the day.

Coaches Corner

Boys' cross-country head coach, Patrick Mahoney was delighted when the team had its best season of the past five years. The universal dedication and commitment was evident when the team overcame injuries and illnesses and a few runners raced to claim spots as Cape Ann League All-Stars. "We get our top four runners back next year, the sky is the limit. We have a chance at the state title."

Benjamin Hodges and all of the golfers were ecstatic during the season; they won the first State Championship for golf in Masco history. There was nothing more exciting than raising up the trophy and knowing the confidence and preparation that was necessary to their success. "This is a season that I will never forget and it will prepare next year's team mentally to know what it takes to be the best in the state, and if we get the opportunity, seize the moment."

The girls' varsity soccer team was apprehensive coming into the 2011 season, unsure of how they would do after losing so many key players. "We lost nine seniors last season and eight of them were starters so we pretty much had to reload the team for this season," said Head Coach Paula Yanakakis. In the end there was no need for worry; the team finished the season successfully as Cape Anne League Champions and earned a spot in the State Tournament.

Football

Record: 7-4

Fans spilled into the bleachers as a sea of red and white, and the pep band blared their spirited songs. The lights flooded the stadium and the Masconomet Football Team took to the field for the start of the 2011 season. Battling teams such as North Andover and Beverly would not prove easy, but the boys were prepared to give their all. The October 15 matchup against the undefeated Beverly Panthers was a high point of the season, as Masco crushed their opponents 24-7. Captains Kurt Hunziker, Dylan Mann, Ben Panunzio, and Nathan Silveira strongly led the team to victory during the Thanksgiving Game against their rivals, North Andover, in front of thousands of spectators.. With 30 seconds left in the game, Mike Tivinis scored a touchdown and Eric Anastasio kicked a field goal for the extra point that clinched the game as Masco defeated Andover 13-12 . The great dedication of the team was evident throughout the entire season, and Coach James Pugh commended the upperclassmen on their efforts. "We were led by an outstanding and hard working senior class to a second place finish," he said. The Cheiftains ended their season on a high note, due to the tenacity and dedication of each player.

The 2011 Golf Team will forever be remembered as one of the the most successful teams in Masconomet history. From daily practices during which the team honed their skills, to tournaments where they showcased their talents, each team member worked tirelessly. With the competent leadership of captains Brian Cogger, Alexander Kane, and Charlie May, the Golf Team finished with the Cape Ann League title and a win in the Divison II State Sectionals for the first time in Masconomet history. Under the guidance of Coach Hodges, the boys bonded, creating an atmosphere of family and togetherness as they cheered each other on through the tournaments.

Field Hockey

Record
7-8-3

"Never miss the moment" is a quote that the Field Hockey Team has applied to their style of play as well as everyday life. Despite the uncertainties of playing under a new coaching staff, including Head Coach Katie White, the girls were able to keep a strong and steady season. Captains Laurel Epps, Allison Foden, and Amanda Tapparo were able to unite the team with a common goal, pushing them to do their best in order to win. Each girls' strengths were apparent as they worked together to do their job and "never miss the moment".

Boys Cross Country

Record:
10-1

Everyday after school, rain or shine, the Masconomet Boys Cross Country Team could be seen training. Running alongside the high schoolers in all their workouts was head coach Patrick Mahoney. The dedication of the coaches was evident when the boys were told that, unless there was a monsoon approaching, they would still have practice.The training, as well as the hard work of the team, led the boys to a winning record. The strength of the boys' top seven was shown in the Cape Ann League championship meet and carried over to Division II State Championship at Franklin Park where they were equally successful. "Sixty percent of the team ran the best time of their careers at the Cape Ann League Championships. There is nothing better than seeing a runner run faster than he ever had before," said Mahoney.

Juniors Marco Caserta and Liam Davis represented the team at the Massachusetts State Cross Country Championship having another successful meet. Other top runners for Masco were Jake Moorman, Jay Polakiewicz, and Ryan Raphael. 'The majority of the team was very dedicated this year. I was very happy with our season. We had a very good year. Finishing with a 10-1 record is something the team should be proud of," said Mahoney.

The Masconomet Girls Cross Country Team finished with an outstanding record of 10-1. Time after time, captains Taylor Beaton, Shannon Beaton, Michaela Powers, Mackenzie Shelgren, and Kaela Nye carried the 127 "Bunnies" to victory. Coaches Joe Casey, Reilly Finnegan, and Tory Broughton taught the girls running skills and team spirit that will last them a lifetime. Coach Casey commented on the season saying, "the Girls XC team had a very successful season winning the CAL Large School Division Championship with an outstanding record." The Bunnies' top runner, Mackenzie Shelgren, became a strong role model for her fellow top runners. One of those runners, freshman Meghan Collins, proved herself quickly this season, her first, by establishing herself as one of the top two runners. Mila Zernich and Lily D'Agostino, also top runners, ran side by side across the finish line placing third and forth. Kimmy Cosgrove, Shannon Beaton, Emily Neuenhaus, Jenna Careri, Makayla Scalli, and Erin Johnson were also members of the top ten. These girls led the team to a first place finish in the Division II State Championship. This win qualified the runners to compete and eventually place 4th in All-States, which Masco Girls XC hasn't attended as a team since 1990.

Boys Soccer

With the untimely retirement of Lenny Emmons, David Mitchell took over the head coach position with big shoes to fill. Fortunately for the Boy's Varsity Soccer Team, Coach Mitchell's style is also that of a winner. Senior captains Chad Burke, Charlie Behrens and Alexander Brown led their peers with strong and positive leadership, allowing the team to finish the season with a record of 12 wins, 3 ties, and 3 losses. There was a tremendous amount of talent on the team this year and each individual contributed to the season's success in their own unique way. Even when the boys played some of the toughest teams in the state, they stood their ground. Their hard work and dedication paid off, as the boys plowed their way through both the Northern and Eastern State Finals. The Masco Boys Soccer team proudly ended their season by finishing second in the State with the title of Eastern Massachusetts State Champions.

Girls Soccer

The Masco Girls Soccer Team went into the 2011 fall season with confidence. Returning from a strong season last year, the girls were ready to work hard and strive for another excellent year. Senior Sam Freeman says, "This year is the best that we have ever had and I am proud of how we worked together". Captains Taylor Evans, Mia Farham and Kendal Pratt work together to get the team reved up for games. Coach Paula Yanakakis says "I think that all three of the captains did a tremendous job this season. They have shown great leadership on and off the field. They encourage their teammates and have stayed very positive, even when we may not have played to the best of our ability. Thanks to Mia, Kendal, and Taylor for being great leaders, we wouldn't be CAL champs without them!!" With a final record of 10-6-2, the Girls Soccer Team became the champions of the Division 2 Cape Ann League and continued on to the State Championship, where they were defeated despite their best efforts.

This year's Volleyball Team consisted of some of Masconomet's hardest-working athletes. Although they only made it to the second round of the State Tournament, falling to Andover by a score of 3-0, they did achieve a few other notable goals. The team raised $1,500 during Breast Cancer Awareness Month, sporting pink jerseys for all of the games in October. Additionally, the 2011 season marked the first victory over the Manchester-Essex Hornets in more than five years. Final records don't necessarily represent all of a team's victories on and off the court.

Coaches Corner

Girls' Basketball Coach Bob Romeo was "lovestruck" by the effort and hard work his team put forth this year. Because of this determination, the girls earned many impressive opportunities such as playing in the prestigious Comcast Tournament, as well as on the Emmanuel College court. In contrast to an unusual lack of games from November through January, the last twelve days of the season consisted of seven challenging ones that finished the season strong.

It's no small feat when a ten year school record is broken. Multiple swimmers on Benjamin Hanchett's team learned this after swimming a relay in the North Sectionals, which qualified them for States. The competitive nature of swimming drove the team forward this year, and Coach Hanchett is looking forward to the start of next year's season, where he will focus on shaping the "team" aspect.

Frank Shea also observed a great end to the season of the Boys Basketball Team. The "Senior Seven" contributed to the teams' very successful year, which included securing a home court state tournament game, winning fourteen season games, and qualifying the team for States. Overall, they ended the season as the runner up in the Cape Ann League and secured three players on its All-Star team.

Each game, the team is pumped to strap on their skates and face their opponents. This years captains Dylan Roy, Brian Hellrigel, and Mitchell Maffeo were positive role models and encouraged their team to play their hardest every moment on the ice. Matthew Cardillo and Mitchell Nekoroski stepped into the goalie positions this year and effectively shut down their opponents offense. Seniors Vincent Zingarelli and Daniel Crowther contributed to the teams powerful offense with their strong slap shots and multiple assists. 'Throughout this season, our team was a united force on and off the ice" said Senior Captain Mitchell Maffeo. Overall, Masconomet's JV and Varsity teams had a powerful season, and the underclassmen ensure promising seasons to come.

Each and every dedicated Masco hockey fan waited patiently for the zamboni to exit the rink so the talented Masconoment Girls Hockey Team could take the ice. Every girl was in tip-top shape, working hard through practices with the help of their inspiring coaches, Andrew Boepple and Nicole Twomey. Through early morning practices and fun pasta parties, the team bonded and grew into a close family. Team captains Alexandra Jones and Katrina Buchta helped guide the team through the eyes of students. "This team means everything; they' re my family during the winter. We spend so much time together it's hard not to get close," said Amanda Coppa, a junior skater. "I want the girls to execute the plays, give 110 percent [in practices and games], maintain good attitudes in the face of adversity, and work as a team," said Twomey. After a season of highs and lows, the team came out with an amazing eight wins. Once again the girls of Masco hockey have earned the respect of their fellow students.

The boys of the Masco Wrestling Team completed yet another amazing season full of successes. In a match against Catholic Memorial, the team avoided a devastating loss with their pure determination. Big wins pulled in by Julian Bandereck and Jim Rhuda resulted in a 39-34 victory. As a team, they have also swept tough competitors such as Whittier, Danvers, and Greater Lowell. Toward the end of the season, Captain Aydan Strachan and nine other Masco wrestlers placed at the Cape Ann League/Northeastern Conference Championship meet. This satisfied Coach Brian Mintz, who said that "The tournament certainly went well. We did everything we could have and should have done. I am extremely happy."

Boys Ski Team

Not even the unusually warm winter and lack of snow could stop this steezy team of skiers from "shredding the gnar" this season. The Boys Ski Team trained on the treacherous trails of Bradford Ski Area to obtain their most impressive record yet: 10 wins and 2 losses. Senior Captains Jeffrey Quenzel, Jacob Muetterties and Matthew Block had an amazing season, providing the underclassmen with big skis to fill next year. Jay Kraunelis said "Everyone had their best season this year, and many thanks to the freshman for really stepping up and filling the empty spots on varsity; We were able to defeat Andover for the first time in six years!" Finishing second at the Cape Ann League Interscholastic Competition was a great way to end an impressive season for the boys. Senior Jeffrey Quenzel was the sole skier from the team to advance to the State Championship where he represented his school well. Next year, they hope to improve their record and win their division.

Boys Indoor Track

Record 8-1

Clearing a bar over 5 feet off the ground and sprinting to a first place finish are some of the necessary tasks required of the boys on the track team. Each of the runners was extremely dedicated to success and worked everyday to increase their speed and endurance. Their commitment to the team led them to an outstanding record of 8-1. The team frequently dominated their opponents, beating Manchester-Essex with a final scores of 69-19. Captains Eric Bonanno, Brian Dierze, and Mike Swain were constantly awed by their teammates for pushing their bodies to the extreme and leading their team to victory. Their hard work paid off when the team finished third in the Cape Ann League meet and had 13 runners continuing on to the State Meet. Casey Tines, Adam Murphy, Cam Hebert, Austin Cashin, Alex Gikas, Justin Clark, Jake Moorman, Jay Polakewicz, Marco Caserta, Luke Schell, Tristan Cluster, Ben Goldman, and Ryan Raphael represented their team at the state meet with numerous strong finishes. Head Coach Dana Picillo was impressed with all of the athletes and the talent that they all brought to the team. He said, "All of these athletes are dedicated to achieving success. It has been a long season and all of these athletes have worked extremely hard to get to this point. I am so impressed with the number of our athletes who not only have the talent, but also the work ethic to qualify for States."

Girls Basketball

Record 20-4

The energy was palpable every time the girls basketball team set foot on the court. Their determination paid off as they beat difficult teams and achieved incredible individual goals. The girls started the season off right with a 49-43 win against their rival, North Andover. On January 9th, 2012, Brooke Stewart scored her 1000th point. In another incredible game, the Chieftain girls beat Lynnfield by more than 50 points. Coach Bob Romeo adds, "The biggest team highlight was a [21 point] win at Central Catholic, where visiting teams rarely leave with a victory". The girls made it all the way to the Division 1 North Finals at the Tsongas Center in Lowell before they were defeated by Andover. This was the furthest that Masco has gone since they moved up to Division One in 2010. These 14 Chieftains girls made their school proud, and they will be remembered as one of the greatest teams in Masconomet history.

Coaches Corner

This year Alan McCarthy took over the position of head coach for the Girls Varsity Lacrosse team. Coaching the team was not something he was a stranger to, but was something he was excited to be a part of once again. "I was just looking forward to getting back on the sidelines. I was excited to be taking over the program again."

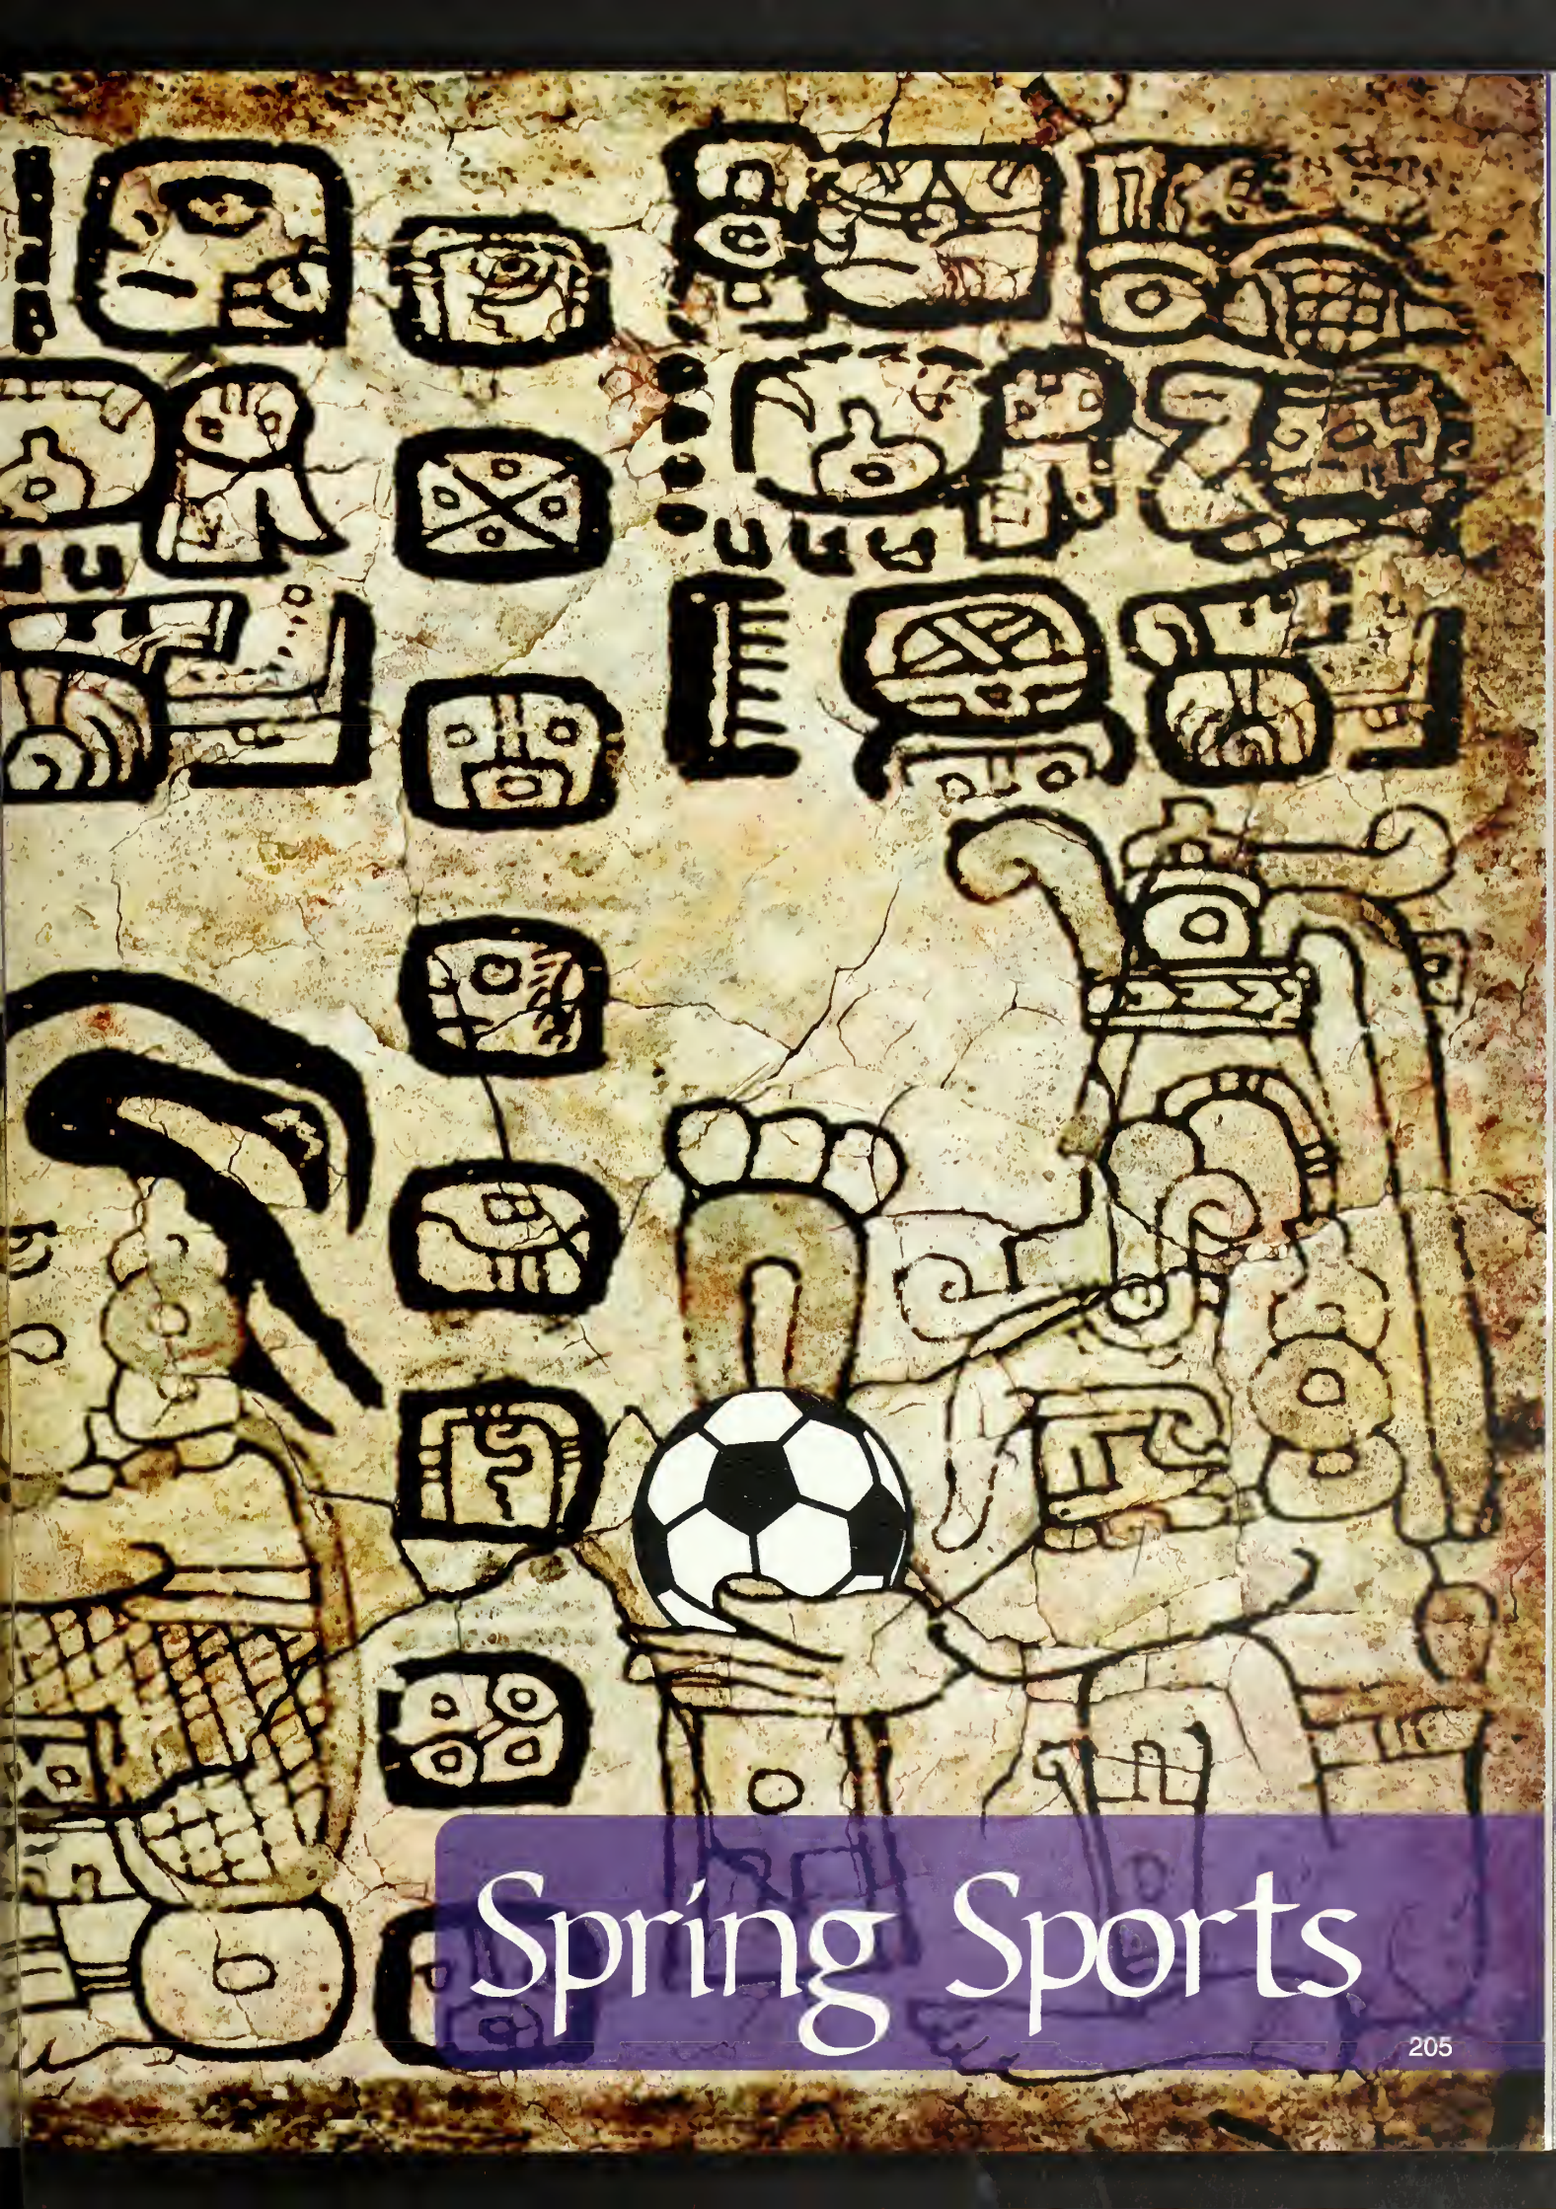
Girls Lacrosse was not the only sport this year with a new coach; the Girls Varsity Softball team also had to make a similar adjustment. Mike Gibley took over the team this season and is hoping to instill strong team values in all of his players. "This game is about working hard, being unselfish, demonstrating good sportsmanship, and working as a team for one common purpose."

As the Girls Outdoor Track team prepares for their 2012 season, Head Coach David Cavallaro knows just what the girls have to do in order to ensure that everyone has a successful season. "It is my goal to have us all work together to help each other be the best person and athlete that we can be each day, given the different circumstances that we encounter on that particular day. If we accomplish this we will be a good team."



Spring Sports

Boy's Lacrosse

The Masconomet Boys Lacrosse Team are looking forward to another challenging yet noteworthy season. Last year, the Chieftains finished with an incredible record of 18-2, and are hoping to improve on their record this season. Coaches Cobb and Quinn will work with the team, pushing them towards claiming the CAL Championship title. Captains Kurt Hunziker and Jake Gillespie will work closely with Cam Jung, Henry Behrens, and Max Craig, three of the freshmen with enough talent to make the varsity team. Other key players include seniors Timothy Towler, Brian Hellrigel, and Wesley Shrewsbury. The talent of the entire group is deep enough that there is speculation that the team will go all the way and win the CAL Championship this season.

This year, the Girls Varsity Lacrosse Team is a very talented group. Although the team lost twelve valuable seniors from the 2011 season, some of the returning players have been on the varsity team since the spring of their freshman year. These players, along with Senior Captains Jackie Tilton, Hannah Brazel, and Laurel Epps hope to carry the team through another successful season. With a new coach this year in Mr. McCarthy, who has previously worked with Masco Girls Lacrosse, the Cheiftans are sure to be successful.

Boys Track

Boys Track Captains Brian Dierze , Michael Swain, and Martin Cain lead an able group of runners and competitors into this year's Boys Track season. It will take strong leadership from coaches Dana Picillo, Dave Walsh and Patrick Mahoney along with the help of the captians to bring these boys to a sucessful season. With a 8-3 record last season, which placed them third overall in the Cape Ann League, the boys are confident that they will improve upon last season. With the high skill-levels of the returning boys, they should have no trouble accomplishing an outstanding season.

The Masconomet Girls Outdoor Track Team is ready to run their fastest, throw their furthest and jump their highest as they prepare for another season. Under the leadership of their five captains, the girls hope to have a season full of personal records and overall team successes. Finishing the indoor season with an impressive record of 8-2 set the pace for an equally successful spring season of running. The older girls will work hard to help the newest trackies learn everything there is to know about track and share their experiences to ensure the continued success of the Girls Track Team in the future.

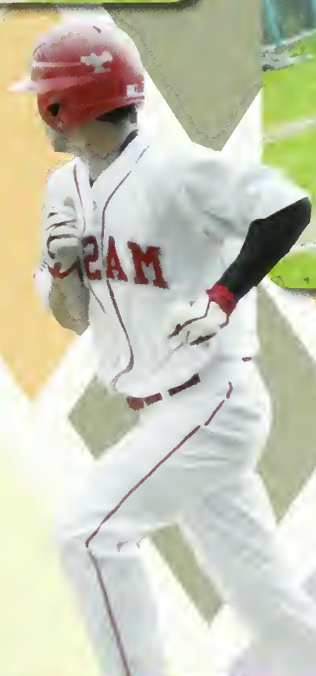
Ben Panunzio readies himself as he anticiaptes the next play.



The Masco Varsity Baseball Team is full of talented athletes who are eager to come out and prove themselves after a rebuilding year last season. Although the team ended with a 12-10 record, their roster was made up of many young members who were able to gain valuable playing experience on a varsity team. Head Coach Mike Valentino predicted they would "be back next season" and is looking to play their way into the State Tournament this year. Now, with a team made up of primarily returning players and led by captains Jeff Daniels, Curtis Kowalski, and Ben Panunzio, the Chieftains will be sure to put their hard work and learning experiences from last year to good use.

The Masconomet Girls Softball Teams are back and fired up for another promising season. The girls are eager to improve on last season's record of eight wins and ten losses. Despite this record, the girls finished strong, winning five of their last six games. This year the freshmen team is being coached by Alex Verdaguer and junior varsity by Julia Witzig, while the varsity team will be lead by head coach Mike Gibley. Captains Shawna DiPietro and Taylor Evans hope to continue the winning streak of last season. A spring full of hard work is sure to come through the dedication of each girl and their coaches.

Boys Tennis

Captains

Jonathan Cabour

Dylan Giustra

As the spring season starts, the Boys Tennis Team can be seen on the court warming up and practicing their serves, getting ready for their upcoming matches. Captains Jonathan Cabour and Dylan Giustra are really looking forward to a great season and fulfilling the leadership position that they were granted at the end of last year. Cabour, a current junior, said that he is "really excited to start playing tennis with the team again and is glad that he has the opportunity to help his fellow players." The team's new coach, Andrew Truchon, cannot wait to be a part of this tennis team and hopes to bring a newly motivational presence. The boys dedication is evident and they are looking forward to testing their talent on the tennis court this year.

Girls Tennis

With two talented captains leading the way, the Masco Girls Tennis Team hopes to jump into another successful season this year. Last season ended with a record of 14-0 and a win at the Division 1 North quarterfinals. The talented group of returning girls have high expectations for the group of incoming freshmen who will help to complete their team. Coach John Lebel not only teaches the girls how to improve upon their tennis skills, but to persevere as well. "The captains are really good girls and great leaders," Lebel said. "With them and the new girls, it will be a fantastic season." Even with his sometimes sarcastic choice of words. Mr. Lebel always finds a way to get everyone excited for the matches to come.

Ultimate Frisbee

Captains

Chris Turner

Adam Grammer

Although Ultimate Frisbee is only considered a club sport here at Masco, it is one of the most fast-paced, competitive activities available to students. Despite being state finalists in 2010, the Masconomet Ultimate Frisbee Team's success has flown under the radar. Ultimate has been one of the fastest growing sports in the country and is becoming more competitive every year. Coming off of a rebuilding year, the team's main goal is to return to its winning ways of previous seasons. Having only four returning seniors, Coaches Robert Serino and Reilly Finnegan are sure to have a group of young and enthusiastic players that are eager to have a great season. This year's team will be led by Captains Chris Turner and Adam Grammar while returning players Danny Mercer, Willie Stewart, and Michael Dillon will round out the core of the team. As always the team will be looking to acquire new talents and become a force to be reckoned with on the field.

Live Action Role

This year, the Masconomet LARP team battled their way through their first successful season as a unified group of warriors. As a new sport to Masconomet, they certainly proved that they belong at this school of champions. In their first major battle against the North Andover Aztecs, Ay Chuy Kak was a key player, knocking out many of the opposing warriors. The LARP team makes their game look easy, slinging knives and spears with ease. Huracan shows his strength by mastering the art of spear throwing, able to eliminate any opponent with ease. The team showed great skill and ability in each battle, ending the season with an undefeated record. Chief Mulleto declared, "The end of the world is nearing, and I have trained this team so that they will be prepared to defend all of mankind come December."

Robert Emmons

Dear Robert,
What an amazing journey this has been watching you go from this handsome little boy into such a wonderful young man! Your strength, determination and hard work in every aspect of your life has brought us nothing but pride and admiration in all your achievements, in the classroom and on the soccer field. You have always been the main source of laughter throughout our home (giggles all around!). But it is your courage and tenacity coming back from several severe injuries that has been a wonder to us all and an example of the strength of character you display to us every day. As you look forward to college in the Fall, remember to follow your dreams, keep your worries small, your goals always in sight and the love of your family in your heart. Congratulations on your Graduation and always know that your family loves you for all that you are and all that you aspire to be!

All our love & best wishes,

Adam Bramanti

We don't know where the years have gone. All we know is that you have been a treasure, a pleasure, and so very easy to parent. It seems like yesterday you were in your crib happily babbling yourself to sleep. Now you are off to Stonehill on a new adventure and the next phase of your life. We are proud of how hard you have worked both academically and athletically to earn your new role as a college athlete, but we are even prouder of you for the compassionate, funny, moral man you have become. Remember, the path of least resistance isn't always the best road to take. So follow your dreams, trust your soul, don't be afraid to take chances, and never ever look back and say "what if". The mistakes and hard times will make you stronger. As the Rascal Flatts' song says, "My wish for you is that this life becomes all that you want it to". Dream big son and be true to yourself. We love you!

Rachel Patricia Rudolph

Dearest Rachel,

Congratulations! We are so proud of all you have accomplished. You have clearly demonstrated how exceptionally hard you work to achieve success. You are always very motivated and compassionate. You've been an incredible role model to your siblings and an absolute joy to us. Watching you grow into a smart, beautiful and caring young lady has been extremely rewarding for us. Remember to anchor on the qualities, strengths and values that you've grown up with; they will certainly help you succeed in the next chapters of your life. To attain your goals, remember to stay true to yourself. Your family and friends will and can provide the support you need whenever necessary. Always maintain balance in everything that you do, especially between hard work and enjoying life. Be safe, be happy and know we love you very much!

Mom, Dad, Jake & Maddie

Alexandra Reardon

ZsaZsi it's hard to believe time has passed so quickly. Your maturity, confidence, drive and determination are remarkable. Our hearts are overflowing with pride....Follow your dreams, open your heart and mind, and always have the courage to stand up for what you believe in....
Your incredible journey begins today!

We love you with all of our hearts,

Nunny, Teenie and our angel Dempsey

We hope your dreams take you... to the corners of your smiles, to the highest of your hopes, to the windows of your opportunities, and to the most special places your heart has ever known.

Daughter,
This picture made us think of you;

Free Spirited, strong willed since you were born, determined to achieve anything you set your mind to, powerful in your thoughts and actions, the love you have for animals and all of this comes with your natural beauty and your eyes that say it all.

You have always chosen your own path and it will be these characteristics that will continue to make you successful.

Love, Mom and Dad

Haily,

"May good luck be your friend
In whatever you do
And may trouble be always
A stranger to you."

We hope that you continue to succeed in your endeavors at school. Enjoy your time there, and good luck with all of your classes.

Love your brothers,

Clint and Cole

Alexandra Reardon
